

I oppose the weakening of Indiana's telephone privacy law by consumer bankers association. If I want to do business with any business, I initiate the conversation, not the other way around. When businesses call MY home, I will not listen to them and hang-up, therefore it is a waste of time for the business to call me as well as their name sticks in my head negatively for future consideration of business. I have a young child who naps and I do not need to worry about turning the phones off and on while she sleeps. I oppose the weakening of Indiana's telephone privacy law in any shape or form.
